THE RUINS IN CHARLESTON

THE POPULATION STILL OUT OF DOORS THROUGH FEAR.

Loss of Property Not Yet to Be Estimated. The City Gradually Assuming a Business-Like Aspect—Relief Pouring in From all Parts of the Country.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 4.—When the half-broken sun arose through the fog at 6 o'clock, scenes were disclosed on the public squares and in the streets throughout the city, which were enough to touch a heart of stone. Rudely improvised tents constructed mostly from bed clothing were to be seen everywhere. Few people slept in doors. The public squares were filled with people. The white and black, old and young, Chinese and Italian mixed together in common, and evinced symptoms of terrible distress as they crawled out of their shelter, rubbed their eyes, yawned and spoke of their ills and fears. Thousands slept with nothing but the canopy of heaven above them.

After the parks and public squares were over, the people scattered, suspended on coats, bed quilts, etc., from fence over sidewalks and thus passed the night. Many enjoyed the repose of Morphus under open umbrellas, the handles of which were stuck in the ground. The semi-hydropathic population camped in their own yards.

The colored people continue to give evidence of superstitious notions and say they will not return to their homes till at least another night is past, and the colored company has a "reasonably prompt" service to Washington, New York and intermediate points. The service in the south is yet undetermined. The operators who have hitherto been regarding the city as a dead loss, are now endeavoring to work out a plan to return to their instruments, which are now located mostly in frame structures. Large numbers of commercial and other messages received from business men, friends and relatives of the citizens. Correspondence, however, is being held up at the telegraph office, the parties to whom they are addressed being so distracted that they cannot be found, or the companies being unable to procure adequate messenger service.

The morning News and Courier announced in double headed head lines that "Charleston is ready for business, despite the earthquake and its ravages;" that "the ware houses give ample accommodation; the wharves are in excellent condition; the commercial tally is up; the business men, the merchants and factors undaunted by misfortune, have girded up their loins anew for the battle of reconstruction." Continuing, it says: "Charleston, we say, is as well able as ever to meet the responsibilities of the situation, and is ready as ever to give to the toomers from every part of the country the commercial facilities required, and the attention and good faith they have a right to expect. Let it not be imagined for a moment that Charleston is sitting in the ashes, because of the loss of its commerce and the consciousness of the loss is here. It is understood fully that far more than the earnings of a twelve months were swept away in less than a month, and for all this, added to the fact that the Charlestonians are in the same determined to maintain the commercial position it has won, and is fortunately so situated as to be able, as well as ready, to deal successfully with every department of trade and every branch of the business."

An appeal is made to the city council for monetary assistance in the form of an appropriation, but the News and Courier advises those who extend aid to confine their efforts in so doing to persons in circumstances who are unable to help themselves.

Very little up to the time of the earthquake has been accomplished to relieve the city of its appearance of desolation.

As the eye takes in the length of a street, it is at once by the depth of depression, unevenness, broken stones, shattered lawns, shingles, lumber, household and office furniture, and all kinds of building material in a mass. Whole fronts or sides of buildings have fallen out, leaving the furnishings of the rooms exposed to the view. The entire population is sleeping out of doors. The observers had a narrow escape.

Great excitement prevails, especially among the colored people, who are preaching singing day and night."

Relief from Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—The following telegram from the local press observer at Charleston, S. C., has been received at the office of the Times:

"All quiet. The last shock was felt Wednesday night at 11:55. No tidal wave preceded or followed the quake. Two shocks were felt; all men out to sea. The number of houses actually known to be 101. It is impossible to ascertain the number of wounded. The estimated damage to buildings is between $4,000,000 and $500,000. No building in the city escaped injury. The number of deaths is very small. The entire population is sleeping out of doors. The observers had a narrow escape.

Great excitement prevails, especially among the colored people, who are preaching singing day and night."

Relief from Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—A permanent committee, composed of prominent citizens, have called a meeting for the purpose of aiding the sufferers by the earthquake in Charleston on Tuesday night. The Citizens' committee hold an unexpected balance from previous relief funds, which a full probability will form the nucleus of a fund to maintain the relief of the city.

Granting Amnesty to Conspirators.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—All the foreign consuls except the representative of Russia attended the reception Prince Alexander.

After a telegram was sent in the cable office, the prince, who had been in the city, was to meet the train from New York, and was to be present at the reception.

The prince, however, did not attend.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOTES

REVENUE CUTTERS' OFFICERS EXPERIENCE OF THE EARTHQUAKE.

Atmospheric Disturbances on the Ocean Caused by the Convulsions of the Earth.

The War Department Knows Nothing of the Earthquake.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Officers of the revenue cutter Ewing, which has arrived at Baltimore, relate the following remarkable experience in Lower Chesapeake Bay on Tuesday night, about the hour that the first earthquake shocks were felt on land: The Ewing left Fortress Monroe on Tuesday afternoon, and all went well till between 11 and 12 o'clock that night. At that time a strong gale came out from the north, catching the Ewing in the vicinity of Smith's Point. At once the officers and men became apprehensive about everything. Nothing looked natural. In the heavens the stars were shooting in all directions, and the breaking seas were charged with phosphorus to such a pronounced degree that no one on board recollects ever seeing such a sight.

The wind steadily increased, and balls of fire first appeared on one bow, then on the other, which Pilot Madegian thought were vessels lights, and kept an anxious watch as he progressed. It was only when they became visible that he found out what they were due to atmospheric disturbances. A light was visible along the horizon, and it excited the interest of Lieut. Brann, who was a traveling experimenter under the same circumstances at Arctic. From the deck of an officer of the United States steamer Walters, he witnessed sahore on that vessel, by the great tidal wave and earthquake of 1865. During the strange proceedings the Ewing was brought to an anchor in Cornfield harbor at the mouth of the Potomac river.

News Nothing of It.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Gen. George Drum, the acting secretary of war, has received no information of the reported conflict between United States and Mexican troops and escaped. He says all the information in the possession of the war department tends to the effect that, so far as he has every reason to believe it untrue. The Mexican and the United States forces are, according to his advice, co-operating in a friendly manner. A dispatch from Gen. Miles to-day makes no reference to the reported conflict.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Col. J. Cuthbert Jones, of Louisiana, who a few months ago wanted Congressman King to fight a duel over some alleged remark about some ladies in a letter denounces Mr. King as a coward and charging him with dishonesty and various sins. He dares Mr. King to prosecute him for libel or "meet him."

WIRE WAR.

A Telephone Company Proceeds Criminally Against a City Council. EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 4.—The Cumberland Telephone Company, through its attorney, Hon. D. W. K. Darrow, secured criminal and civil proceedings against the members of the city council, but owing to the lateness of the hour, warrants were not served, but will be early to-morrow morning. The suits grow out of the demand that the telephone company wires and poles be cut and removed from the streets and the exchange closed, owing to the fact that the telephone company disobeyed the laws of the state and this city.

The members of the council say they will face the issue and fight it to the bitter end. The section under which these prosecutions are instituted is No. 1393 of the revised statutes of Indiana, and comes under the heading of "Criminal practice," and is as follows: "Whoever maliciously or chievously injures any telegraph pole or telephone pole, or the wire or any part of the apparatus thereof, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than $500 nor less than $5, and imprisonment in the county jail more than six months nor less than thirty days."

Attempted Prison Murder.

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 4.—The prison wire shop has been the scene of another attempted murderer. Mike Mooney, recently returned to the prison from Waukegan, after having been held there for the murder of his son, had had a difficulty with Forseyen Bormough about not keeping his fire up. Mooney turned upon the forseyen with red hot stocking poles six feet long, and made a desperate attempt to kill him. The forseyen, who rushed at Mooney, and a colored convict, got his hands on Mooney's throat and nearly choked him to death. Mooney was finally placed in the solitary. He swore that he would kill Bormough at the first opportunity.

DETERMINED SUICIDE.

After Several Attempts a Woman Throws Herself in Front of a Train.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A most determined case of suicide is reported from Tenmack, a station on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. The woman had been hanging about the depot all day, and when she came in front of the 3:10 p. m. train, but was pulled off the track uninjured. She still remained in the neighborhood, and at 6 o'clock made another unsuccessful effort to be killed by the train engine.

At 3:30 o'clock in the morning a freight train passed that point. It had run over and frightfully mangled the woman before her suicide was suspected. She had hidden herself in a dark corner of the station, and was cut out as the train drew near. In her pocket were found a prayer book and a medicine bottle. The former had the name Ann Culy, 5330 South Halsted street, written in it, with a fine line beneath, "Pray for me."

"The Enlisted Soldier."

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The gold medal of the military service institute of the United States for the essay on "The Enlisted Soldier," has just been awarded to Lieut. Col. A. A. Woodhull, of the medical department of the army. There were eleven competitors for the prize. The essay of Col. J. D. Dodge, of the Eleventh infantry, received the second mention in second section in order of merit.

The Ladies After Prizes.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The contest in the band and fire tournament this morning resulted: First prize, Wooster hook and ladder, 35 seconds; second, Dunkirk hook and ladder, 36 seconds; third, Ada hook and ladder, 34 seconds; fourth, Tidus hook and ladder, 37 seconds.
